Overdrafts.

Typically used for: short-term borrowing using your current account, such as when your car service is more than you expected or when all your bills arrive at once.

An overdraft can be used to borrow money through your current account. If your expenses are higher than usual it can help tide you over until your next pay day. It is a convenient and flexible way to manage your spending, and once agreed is immediately available.

An overdraft can be Arranged or Unarranged. For an Arranged Overdraft you agree a maximum borrowing limit with us in advance. An Unarranged Overdraft is when we decide to lend you money to make a payment without you applying for an overdraft first. You are asking for an Unarranged Overdraft if you try to pay for something when there's not enough money in your account to make the payment (including your Arranged Overdraft if you have one).

If you use your overdraft, you'll pay a monthly usage fee and interest on the balance – but an Unarranged Overdraft will cost you more as you'll also pay a daily fee. However, if you borrow £10 or less (or go over your Arranged Overdraft limit by £10 or less), you won't pay any fees or interest on this amount. We call this an "Unarranged Overdraft buffer". If you pay us back by 10.00 pm (UK time) the same day, you won't pay any fees or interest. Some of our accounts also offer an interest and fee-free Arranged Overdraft. You should be aware that interest rates are variable and may change.

Overdrafts at a glance:

- Smaller amounts to help tide you over from one month to another.
- Arranged or Unarranged short-term borrowing that is easy to manage.
- An easy way to make sure you have access to extra money when you need it.

Credit cards.

Typically used for: short term borrowing for regular spends on things like petrol or groceries. Borrowing for big purchases like holidays or large electrical goods. You may also use it to consolidate balances from other cards into one place.

Our credit cards can help you manage your money by spreading the cost of your everyday spending and providing a secure payment type. You can use them to buy goods and services in shops, by telephone or online.

As with all credit cards, some purchases bought between £100 and £30,000 have protection through Section 75 of the Consumer Credit Act 1974, meaning if there's an issue with your suppliers you may be able to claim a refund from us. Our credit cards also let you transfer balances from other credit and store cards.

We'll send you a statement each month showing your outstanding balance. You can choose how much of your balance to pay off – from the minimum payment to the full balance – and you can even set up a monthly Direct Debit for an amount that suits you. If you only use your card for purchases and you pay your balance in full and on time each month, you will not pay any interest. However this doesn't apply to the Advance credit card where you pay interest from the date of the transaction. If you have transferred balances and aren't in a promotional period, or have taken out cash, interest will be charged on all cards even if you pay your balance in full. You should also be aware that interest rates are variable and may change.

Credit cards at a glance:

- Flexible borrowing within an agreed credit limit with monthly repayments.
- Manage the cost of everyday spending.
- Consolidate balances from other credit or store cards.

Loans.

Typically used for: one-off larger items or long-term plans – perhaps a car or new kitchen, a family wedding or simply reorganising your finances.

If you are planning to make a larger purchase and don't have all the money you need, then a fixed-rate loan can help. It can also provide a simple and cost effective way to manage your existing finances.

We lend you a lump sum that you'll pay back in fixed regular repayments, together with interest, over a number of years. And because your repayments stay the same they're easier to budget for.

You'll need to keep up payments on your loan if you want to avoid extra charges. But if you find things aren't going to plan – perhaps an unexpected bill leaves you short – you can request a one-month repayment holiday* on your loan up to twice a year.

To find out what you can comfortably borrow, visit tsb.co.uk/loans and try out our Loans Calculator.

Loans at a glance:

- Larger amounts from £1,000 to £25,000 for one-off purchases or long-term plans (over 1 - 7 year loan terms).
- Arranged long-term borrowing at a fixed rate over a number of years.
- Fixed repayments that are easier to budget for.

*Loan repayment holidays – Interest will be charged if you take a break from your repayments or defer your repayments, so you will pay more interest overall. The two one-month repayment holidays cannot be taken consecutively. Repayment holidays are available if you meet certain conditions.

Before you borrow

We want you to be comfortable with the amount you borrow and confident about your ability to pay it back. So here are a few useful questions to ask yourself before you make a decision:

- 1 What will my commitment be?
- 2 Can I afford to pay the money back?
- 3 Are my circumstances likely to change?
- 4 Will I be able to afford bigger repayments if interest rates go up?
- 5 Are there any risks? What will happen if I can't pay back what I borrow?
- 6 What features or benefits will I get?

We can help you answer these questions – for more guidance and support ask a TSB Partner in branch or call us on 03459 758 758.

Useful things to know when borrowing

APR – APR stands for Annual Percentage Rate. This figure is based on the interest rate, how you repay the amount borrowed (the term of the loan, timing and repayment amounts) and other fees and charges. You can use it to compare different credit card and loan offers.

The APR may not include all fees and charges on a loan or credit card – you may still need to pay missed or late payment charges, or balance transfer fees for example.

EAR – EAR stands for the Equivalent Annual Rate. This is the actual interest rate of an overdraft. It does not take account of any fees or charges.

Credit scoring – When you apply to borrow money, many lenders will use a credit score to help them make a decision on whether to lend the money or not. When you apply to us, your score might be based on what we know about your existing accounts with us, and information from other credit reference agencies. With a good credit history and payment record you're likely to be given a good credit score. If you've had many credit cards and loans, have missed payments or made lots of credit applications you may get a lower score. A low score may reduce the amount you can borrow, increase the interest rate you pay or mean that your application is turned down.

Important information – If you don't keep up payments or stay within your agreed limits, this may affect your ability to obtain additional credit and there may be additional charges.
